bonify

Reported outcomes	Platform approvals, usage and observed results.

For bonus, retention, operations and integration teams.

A recommendation is the start of a review

The workflow preserves the difference between a proposed reward, a platform approval and a reported result.

1. Send relevant activity

Use anonymous player identifiers and the events required by your policy.

2. Apply the configured policy

Eligibility, player-protection rules and limits constrain the available rewards.

3. Review the recommendation

Inspect the proposed reward, supporting context and estimated cost.

4. Report the outcome

Your platform approves and delivers the reward, then reports usage and results.

Policy and integration belong together

Keep reward policy specific to each workspace and connect it through authenticated, traceable requests.

Fixed rules	Eligibility, permitted rewards, frequency and spending constraints.
Model configuration	Input selection and guidance within the configured boundaries.
Revision history	Validated changes with explicit state and a reviewable record.

The API loop

Player state → Activity → Recommendation → Outcome

Use the integration reference for exact schemas, authentication and idempotency requirements.

Start small and review what is reported

Begin with one controlled use case. Connect the relevant events, configure the permitted rewards and assess the results with your team.

Prepare	Create a workspace and agree on the decision you want to support.
Connect	Authenticate the integration and send a small, relevant event set.
Review	Compare recommendations with the applied policy and supporting evidence.
Learn	Track platform-reported approval, usage and financial outcomes separately from estimates.

Bonify does not approve rewards on behalf of your platform or credit player balances.
